17 Americans Killed in Storm On Isle of Pines

Survivors Taken Heavy Toll at Isle of Pines, Where 25 Are Reported Killed—Many Injured and Heavy Property Damage.

Havana, Oct. 23 (AP).—The picturesque and unbroken little Isle of Pines, paid a heavy toll in deaths, injured and material damage when the Caribbean hurricane passed over it Wednesday morning on its way to the island of Cuba to spread further death and devastation.

Reports received from the Isle say that 38 persons were killed, among them 17 Americans, that more than 200 persons were injured and that the property and other losses will amount to $50,000,000.

Three Americans, who came out of the Isle of Pines on the steamer Cristobal Colon and landed at Havana, on the south side of the island of Cuba, brought with them 52 gravely-injured persons. They said that various villages in the island, which lies in the Caribbean 50 miles south of Cuba, were severely damaged by the storm, some of them destroyed. There were fatalities in Nueva Gerona, Santa Fe and San Francisco. An entire American negro family of seven named Davis was killed.

Many wealthy white Americans have homes in the Isle, which is of an area of about 900 square miles, with mountains, extensive plains and many streams. Citrus fruits, vegetables, pineapples and other products are grown in the Isle. It is reported that all the fruit crops have been ruined. Boats with physicians, supplies of food and medicines are being sent to the Isle from Havana.

Today reports from various parts of Cuba visited by the hurricane served only to add to the great damage. The number of fatalities estimated was still under 1,000. It had been impossible to calculate the number of injured. While there are no definite figures as to actual losses, estimates are that in the island of Cuba they amount to $100,000,000 and on the Isle of Pines $50,000,000.

The bodies of only 25 persons have been found in the municipality of Batabanua. Many reports placed the death toll at 200. A general clearing of the island of Batabanua reveals a possible loss in the hundreds there of the lives of 257 persons.

Sesqui Wars in Another Action

Philadelphia, Oct. 23 (AP).—The Sesquiennial exposition has overcome another legal effort to force its closing on the Sabbath.

A jury in common pleas court today returned a verdict in favor of Mayor W. Frederick Kendrick and George W. Elliott, director of public safety, in a mandamus suit brought by the Methodist men's committee of 100. The committee alleged that merchandise was being sold in the exhibition buildings on Sunday in violation of the blue law of 1879, and that operation of the amusement also was a violation of the law, even though no charge other than the fifty cents admission to the grounds was collected.

The jury not having sustained the arguments made in the application for a mandamus, Judge McDevitt said the verdict had left no question of law for the court to pass upon and that therefore the case was ended.

Bus Line Route Here Changed

The relaying of the pavement on Washington avenue has been completed with the exception of the block between Lanes avenue and North Front street, and commencing Sunday the upper loop bus line will operate over the following route: From Cedar street and Broadway, to Clinton avenue, to Henry street, to Wall street, to Lanes avenue, to Washington avenue, to Lanes avenue, to Green street, to North Front street, to Clinton avenue, to Albany avenue, to Foxhall avenue, to O'Neil street, to Broadway, to Cedar street.

As soon as the Washington avenue pavement is laid between Lanes avenue and North Front street the bus line will run straight through Washington avenue to North Front street.

Friday night was crowned Friday at a U. S. Marshal at the Marine Corps Band on the temporary stand. The band was playing several strains of popular music.

The annual ball of the Marine Corps Club will be held at the club house on Friday evening, October 29. The music will be furnished by the band.

Sale Closes This Evening A Big Success

Read Concert to be a Feature Again This Evening—Stocks of Goods Replenished and Reorganized for the Final Hours of Big Community Sale.

Friday marked another successful day of the Community Sale being held by the Downtown Business Men's Association. The merchants were enthusiastic over the results that were derived from advertising their merchandise to the public of this city and throughout the county. Shoppers came from the rural section to obtain what they had read about in the various newspapers and from the numerous signs that were posted on trucks and in conspicuous positions. The band that gave concerts in front of The Freeman building also attracted large crowds who viewed the merchandise offered in the well-lighted windows of the merchants and stopped to purchase. The crowd that gathered to hear the music on Friday evening was not so large as that of Thursday evening but the stores noticed no decrease in the amount of sales. Indeed many of the business men were busy after closing time and this morning replenishing their merchandise in order to be ready for the large number of purchasers that are expected to be out this evening. Many crates and containers of merchandise were also received this morning, which were packed with articles that will be on sale at bargain prices throughout the day.

The band concert will again be held this evening and everything is promised to be better than ever. The merchants have arranged to engage more help in order that the purchasers, who they are confident will be out in large numbers, may be taken care of quickly and efficiently. Parking conditions will also be attended to so that the shoppers will have a place to leave their autos while they visit the stores. Police will be on hand to prevent congestion of traffic and to keep order in general.

Rev. Schroeder Has Resigned

Rev. Frederick T. Schroeder, pastor of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church, has resigned his pastorate to accept a call to a professorship of German language and literature at the Concordia Institute, Bronxville.

The Rev. Mr. Schroeder has been pastor of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church for the past ten years coming here from Logan, Ohio, and his pastorate here has been very successful. The church has had many improvements added and a handsome new parish house and rectory was recently built where the church activities could be carried on. The parochial school was also enlarged and rebuilt.

The Rev. Mr. Schroeder notified the church council of the call that had been extended him and received his dismissal here. His successor as pastor here has not been selected as yet.

Explosion Kills Liquor Gangster

Chicago, Oct. 23 (AP).—Premature detonation of an explosive in the doorway of a west side store early today killed "Three Fingers" Pete Kostanski, 29, liquor gangster, and buried his torn body beneath the debris of the shop front.

The police think he was on a safe blowing mission, to obtain defense funds for Joe Battis, clique chief, awaiting trial for murder. Kostanski was captured recently in the Wisconsin woods with Battis but was released. He was the leader of the Battis gang, while Battis was in jail.

The door of the grocery is opposite a large factory and detectives decided the explosion was not of the usual black powder bomb out of a safe.

STRENGTHENED AMBUSH BOULDER TO ALBANY JUNE DEADLINE.

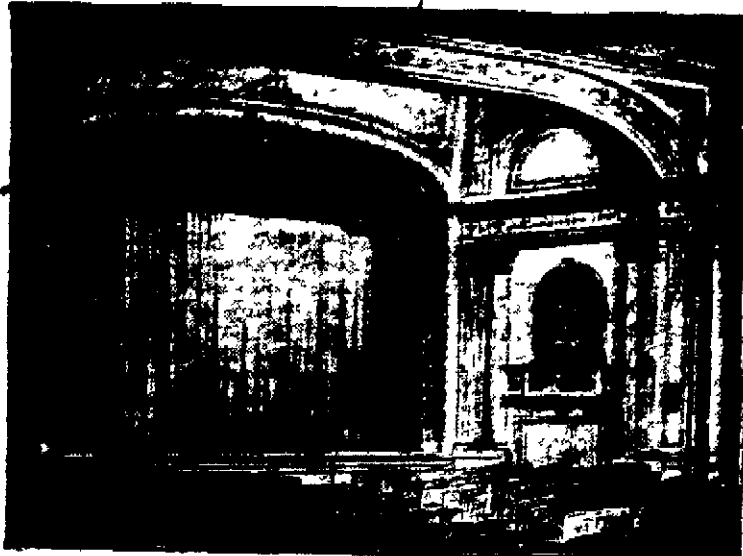

The steamer Adirondack, formerly owned by the Hudson Navigation Company, has been sold to Albany men who will junk it. Since the World War the steamer has been decreed at the old dock at Albany. For about a year it has been seaward from the dock and it was impossible to raise it or have it towed away, and it was decided the only way to get rid of it was to junk it.

Proposed Interior of Reade's New Theatre

Construction at Reade's Kingston Theatre on Wall street will be completed after the first of December when work was first undertaken some months ago it was anticipated that work would be finished and the theatre completed before October, but the original plans have been changed and considerable more work is being done. In addition to the new building at the rear which will house the stage and properties rooms, the entire front of the theatre comprising the original theatre will be altered and entirely remodeled and refitted.

When work is completed between December first and fifteenth, the patrons of the theatre will find a new house, one adapted for either the screen plays or the best road companies of the day.

The original plan was to erect a stage at the rear of the theatre and increase the seating capacity, but as work progressed the original plan was changed and the interior of the theatre will be rearranged and reconstructed so that when completed the seating capacity of the auditorium will be 2,200.

The stage will be 38 feet deep and 70 feet wide with sufficient height to take care of the largest road or Broadway production. Connecting with the stage are 10 dressing rooms equipped with shower baths, toilets and the latest appliances of the time. These dressing rooms are located on either side of the stage. The new fireproof asbestos curtain and the act curtain have both been received and are ready to install.

New Movie Screen. For the showing of motion pictures one of the latest types of silver-toned motion picture screens will be installed. Two new projection machines of the latest type have been installed as well as new spot lights and lighting effects.

A scene dock for the storage of scenes is also provided in the new addition at the rear of the stage. Access to the stage and dressing rooms is from Crown street at the rear. Located in the orchestra pit is a new organ of special design for the theatre.

The stage will be equipped with the latest type of electrical devices and appliances to give all the desired electrical effects. All electrical work is being done by Fred R. DeGarmo of this city. In the auditorium of the theatre the lighting fixtures, wall fixtures and attachments will all be new and in keeping with the general color scheme and design of the building.

Auditorium Redecorated. At the front entrance of the theatre will be a large promenade extending around the rear of the auditorium. Italian marble will be used in finishing off this promenade. Inside the theatre where at present there are curtains to screen the auditorium from the entrance, bronze doors will be installed. The present ladies' rest room will be replaced by a larger and more modern one with latest appliances and conveniences will be located a smoking room for men.

The auditorium will be entirely redecorated and fitted out with new seats and carpets. The walls will be redecorated and new draperies placed.

In order that every seat in the house will have an unobstructed view of the floor of the present structure will be changed so as to conform with the pitch of the new portion of the building.

In front of the theatre will be placed a new electric sign reading Reade's Kingston Theatre. This sign will be fifty feet in height with letters four feet in size.

Exits will be equipped with the latest approved fire precaution measures.

Contract For Keith's Acts. The management of the theatre has signed a contract for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Paramount pictures and the vaudeville shown at Reade's Kingston Theatre will be Keith acts. A full orchestra will supply the music for the theatre.

The heating system for the theatre will have ample radiation to make the theatre comfortable at all times and the heating engineers have completed this work. The heating was installed by Wieber & Walter of this city, while the general contract for the new construction was awarded to Frank S. Campbell, contractor and builder of Kingston. Gerard W. Betz is the architect in charge.

Father Kills His Three Daughters

Crushed With Liquor James Stoddard Battered to Death With an Axe Three of His Daughters as They Slept.

Brookton, Mass., Oct. 22 (AP).—A crazed father battered to death with an axe three of his daughters as they slept in a cheerless little third story apartment here today.

James Stoddard, 35-year-old laborer, with a long police record for intoxication arrests who recently was charged with failing to support the children, slew the girls, Mildred, 7, Edna, 11, and Florence, 13.

Marion, a fourth daughter who was in bed with Edna awoke as her father struck her sister and grappled with him. Breaking from his grasp she fled to the street.

Police found Stoddard, axe in hand, apparently about to leave the house. "I just killed my three kids and I want to get the other one," he told them.

Stoddard declared he had been drinking for two weeks prior to last Sunday when he had decided to quit. A hallucination that a former employer had chased the children home and was preparing to "burn" them made him resolve to kill them himself. He asserted in an incoherent narrative at police headquarters.

Benedictine Nurses Graduate

The Benedictine School of Nursing will hold commencement exercises in St. Mary's School Hall on Thursday evening, October 28, at 8 o'clock. A special program has been arranged for the nurses consisting of recitations, songs and a series of tableaux.

Special invitations have been sent to the parents and intimate friends of the graduates but a general invitation to attend the exercises is also extended to the public.

On the following Saturday evening the class will attend a Halloween party given in their honor by the nurses of the Benedictine Hospital in the Nurses Home.

The Ladies' Auxiliary have a treat in store for the members of this year's graduating class which they will tender them the first week in November.

Police Court Cases Adjourned

James F. Flynn of Port Lwen, who was arrested several days ago on a charge of reckless driving, this morning in police court asked for a jury trial and the case was set down for November 2. Flynn was convicted in May of reckless driving and at that time was fined $20.

Frank Schermerhorn was arrested at his home on Cedar street this morning by Officer Dempsey on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace Henry Davis of the town of Marlborough, charging Schermerhorn with fleeing without a license. He was held to await the arrival of the town of Marlborough authorities.

Salvatore Rizzo arrested by Officer Aley on a warrant obtained by Blasco Striano charging Salvatore with reckless driving in crowd on his car of the road, had his hearing adjourned to October 29 in police court.

Lyle T. LaFlamme of Woodstock, N. H., arrested by Officer Harmon for crossing a traffic signal at the Houdoulin Creek Bridge, forfeited $5 cash bail for failure to appear in court.

THREE NEGROES ARE TAKEN TO MANNEMORA. Jailor Robert F. Avey and Deputy Sheriff Felix were on duty for Clinton prison at Mannemora with George Smith, Earl Williams and Joseph King, negroes who were sentenced by County Judge Joseph M. Fowler on October 11, to terms on their pleas of guilty to crimes charged.

Smith is to serve two to four years for second degree assault. Williams two years six months to four years for robbery and King one year to two years for second degree assault.

STATE SENATOR LIPWITZ MUST IN AUTO CRASH. Buffalo N. Y., Oct. 22 (AP).—State Senator Leonard L. Lipwicz of Buffalo was severely injured in an auto crash on the main highway near Buffalo.

Lipwicz was driving a Buick when it crashed into a tree. He was taken to the hospital and is expected to recover. The car was a total loss.

Boy Scout Campaign Next Week

Chairman Charles Ramsey of the Ulster County Boy Scouts Campaign Committee announced today that the working organization for the campaign has been completed. Fifty volunteer workers will conduct the canvass for subscriptions. They have been divided into six teams. The captains of these teams are Dr. A. C. Gates, James A. Dwyer, S. J. Mesinger, E. F. Flanagan, Arthur J. Burns and Walter Henkel.

There will be a meeting of all the workers in the Chamber of Commerce on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at which time prospect cards will be selected by the members of the teams and final instructions will be given.

Chairman Ramsey and Elva H. Bogart will act as a committee on advanced gifts. The general canvass will start on Tuesday morning and every effort will be made to complete it within the week.

Chairman Ramsey is confident that the people of Kingston will give their generous support to the Boy Scout movement and with their gifts put the work upon a solid footing for the next two years. There is every indication that the great importance of Scouting has been brought home to them and they will see to it that Kingston and Ulster county take their place among the many other communities of the country as firm supporters of this very essential work for the future citizens of America.

The Scouts of Kingston will deliver over one thousand folders today and Monday explaining the purpose of the campaign. Requests from other communities of the county know that great interest is being displayed and the County Boy Scout Council are confident the full quota will be reached.

Wadsworth Turns To Long Island

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., carried his campaign for re-election to Long Island today. The senator's itinerary included Huntington, Greenvale and Riverhead, and he will go to Patchogue tonight.

The senator came down the Ramapo valley from Poughkeepsie yesterday, speaking at Suffern, Spring Valley and Nyack, and then crossed to the Hudson valley to speak at Mt. Vernon, Yonkers and in the Bronx. In each of his addresses he urged the importance of returning a Republican Congress, declaring that only with a senate and house fully in accord with and actively supporting President Coolidge can real progress be made.

He encouraged particularly the formation of congressional blocs declaring that if they are allowed to form, congress is apt to become like European parliaments with non-responsible for the conduct of business.

The Bronx address last night was the 84th the senator has made since he began his upstate campaign at Canandaigua three weeks ago. During that time he has traveled nearly 2,300 miles and has visited most of the counties in the state. He expressed himself "encouraged and very comfortable" about support he has gained upstate.

Final Upstate Speeches Tonight

Albany, Oct. 23 (AP).—Governor Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for re-election, and former Justice Robert F. Wagner, Democratic candidate for United States senator today had ready the final arguments of their upstate campaigns.

Their foremost exhortation was set for tonight at Harmanus Bleeker Hall scene of many important political gatherings and the play where in 1924 Governor Smith first publicly agreed to having his name put up for the presidency.

After a two week end Governor Smith and Judge Wagner will leave for New York Monday.

Last night a referendum: both candidates drew out what they considered as their most telling points in favor of Democratic nominees. The governor called a "black" a derogatory term and stated that he had heard it used by a "white" man. He said that he would not use it himself.

Judge Wagner said that he considered the word "black" as a derogatory term and that he would not use it himself.

Many Killed in Quake in Armenia; Americans Safe

Cablegram from Near East Relief Reports Hundreds Killed and Thousands Injured in Armenia Earthquake—Forty American Workers Safe.

Lennakhan, Armenia, Oct. 23 (AP).—Many persons were killed and scores injured and the whole population was thrown into panic by an earthquake which shook Armenia last night.

Many houses collapsed telegraph wires were wrecked trees uprooted and cattle killed.

There was no loss of life among the personnel of the American Near East Relief or the 8,000 Armenian orphans under their care. This was due to the sturdy construction of the old stone Carist military barracks in which they were housed and the splendid discipline maintained by the Americans among the children.

Believing that Mt. Ararat was in eruption, the inhabitants rushed from their homes. They were soon reassured by the American doctors and nurses attached to the Near East Relief.

Inhabitants of the area of Mt. Ararat fell to their knees, praying for deliverance from the calamity while others rushed to the churches.

American Workers Safe. New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Hundreds of persons were killed, thousands injured and other thousands made homeless by the earthquake which shook Armenia last night, said a cablegram to the Near East Relief today from Beirut. All of the forty American workers of the Near East Relief are safe, the message said.

Buildings of the Near East at Lennakhan were damaged. Children in the organizations orphanages and workers are sleeping in tents. Doctors and nurses aided in caring for the injured.

The cablegram requested an appropriation to meet the emergency. The Near East Relief centered its Armenian activities at Lennakhan where it has been taking care of 9,000 orphans.

Dry Referendum Is Constitutional

Court of Appeals Rules New York State's Referendum on Prohibition Is Constitutional—Refers to Approve Five-Cent Part.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP).—New York State's referendum on prohibition is constitutional.

Upholding the legislature on the broad ground that it has a right to ask the people for advice, the court of appeals yesterday removed the last obstacle in the way of an expression of opinion on modification of the Volstead Act by 3,000,000 voters at the election November 2.

At the same time the court refused to approve New York city's five-cent fare referendum holding that the municipal assembly acted beyond the powers conferred upon the Metropolitan law makers by the home rule amendment. The referendum if carried out, would have required the voters to pass upon acts of the assembly.

The action in the prohibition case was instituted by Mary E. Peaks who sought to restrain the New York city board of elections from printing the ballots. The lower court refused to issue a writ of mandamus and its action was sustained by the decision, which averred that the action of the legislature is beyond power conferred upon it under the Constitution of the state.

The property of absorbing water seems to be a property of the wood substance itself, and any modification, although it might change the amount of absorption, does not remove the absorptive property entirely.

Woman Air Pilot Wanted Lipstick

Lips Parched from Cold, French Aviatress Made Request for Lipstick After Qualifying for Pilot's License.

Paris, Oct. 22 (AP).—"Lend me your lipstick; my lips are all parched from the cold," were the first words spoken by Mademoiselle Denyse Collin when she landed after a full hour's flight which qualified her for the third feminine aerial pilot's license issued in France.

The request was addressed to Mademoiselle Adrienne Bolland, who in 1921, was the first French woman to obtain a license and who had watched her friend's flight with great interest. Madame Louise Maryse, who qualified as a pilot last year, was not present.

During her test of sixty minutes in a heavy biplane, Mlle. Collin looped the loop, glided with motor cut-off and other stunts and easily passed her examination. A nurse with the French Hospital corps during the war, the young woman flew for the first time when she accompanied a wounded French general in a plane from Rheims to Paris. She then vowed that she would be an aviatrice. Later she became a parachute jumper, dropping no less than forty times from airplanes in full flight. She has an autograph letter from M. Laurent Lyncac, then Air Minister in France, congratulating her for her "services rendered to French aviation."

Infante Don Jaime, second son of the King of Spain, spent a few hours in Paris between trains while returning from London to Madrid recently and improved the beautiful autumn day as well as the state of his finances by a little business with the "parimutuel" booths at Longchamp race track.

The infante sat in the stand nervously clutching a few thousand tickets bet on the Argentine owned, trained and ridden three-year-old Biribi, who turned up as the winner of the last big feature of the flat racing season, the Arc de Triomphe Stakes.

As Biribi flashed past the wire two and a half lengths in front of a field of sixteen, comprising the ten best horses of the year, the infante could not restrain his enthusiasm. He made a wild rush for the paddock to congratulate Juan and Domingo Torterolo of Buenos Aires, respectively trainer and rider of the winner.

"What made you bet on my mount, Your Royal Highness? Domingo asked the infante.

"He owes my father money," replied the heir to the Spanish throne. King Alfonso bet ten thousand francs on him to win the Grand Prix last June when you finished second. But it is all right. I won it all back."

Wedding bells jingling merrily and continuously since the beginning of the month, and the unprecedented number of marriage notices posted at the Mayor's of the ultra smart wards of Paris show that although June may continue to be known as the month of brides and roses, October has passed it in the number of actual marriages. Licenses issued in the aristocratic Eighth and Sixteenth wards were far in excess of the number for the corresponding period last June.

October brides are not married in fluffy chiffon or georgette dresses, and the dressmakers have been doing a rushing business in woolen fabrics. Some French writer even charge that the dressmakers are responsible for the October marriage craze, so as to create a market for their heavier materials.

Sports types and modern trotteur models have even been chosen by some brides for the City Hall ceremony, but the long train, slim, graceful fitting dress still rules for the church function. Velvet predominates.

That the starched collar is an instrument of torture, a straight jacket for the neck, and must disappear is the first article in the by-laws of the Anti-Collar League recently organized in Paris. The founders are all writers of some note, but the collarless fashion is making timid progress. At the first meeting of the league, Andre Antoine, a noted author and theatrical critic, was elected president and an executive committee formed. Press photographers in attendance asked the committee to pose for a picture. When the picture appeared in the newspapers it was found that seven out of the eight on the committee were wearing tall, stiff collars. The attention of the President was called to the fact. He declared: "This was not an oversight. It was done on purpose to show how miserable we were and how uncomfortable we looked and felt."

Caves of Elephants

Not far from Bombay, India, are the famous caves of Elephanta. Elephanta is an island long held as a sacred place by orientals. The name was given by the Portuguese from a colossal sculpture of an elephant. A series of subterranean temples are hewn right out of the solid rock. Columns of the natural rock are left standing to support the roof, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Kite-Flying in the East

The flying of kites is still a national pastime with the Chinese, Japanese, Koreans and Indians. The framework is usually of bamboo strips, covered with silk or paper. In the Malay peninsula kites seldom have tails. In some parts of India they are made with perforated reeds, so that when they float and dip in the air a musical rattling noise is made.

Stop Shower of Chocolate Bombs

Police Call Halt to Advertising Stunt Because Celestial Shower of Sweets Caused Too Many Complaints.

Berlin, Oct. 23 (AP).—Chocolate bombs dropped from airplanes as an advertising stunt of a Berlin candy company have caused so many hundreds of persons that the police have called a halt to the celestial bombardment of sweets.

The company had been sending up two planes on Sundays. Every park, beer garden or street in which the fliers chanced to spot a crowd was bombarded with hard chocolates, wrapped in heavy foil from an altitude of about 100 feet. The aerial gifts were particularly objectionable to the bald-heads, whose custom it is to stroll with heads uncovered on the theory that the sun's rays stimulate the growth of hair. Mothers complained that children fighting for the prizes ruined their Sunday clothes.

A corps of beer and whiskey "sniffers" has been turned loose in Berlin by the tax collector's office to discover whether intoxicating liquors are being hauled through forbidden streets. Newspaper wits have been quick to see that these modern snooters closely resemble Frederick the Great's famous coffee sniffers, who used to walk the streets with noses tilted high into the air to find out whether citizens were roasting their own coffee in violation of the law.

The liquor snooters, always men who have a keen sense of smell, have been appointed to see to it that liquor is brought into the city and to customers only through certain officially designated streets along which officers are posted to collect the municipal tax.

When Jackies of the American cruiser Memphis visited Berlin they were handed a program on which one event was listed as: "Besichtigung des Wedding." They shined up their shoes, shaved with particular care, put on their Sunday best and waited with bated breath to see what a German wedding was like. Their dismay was great when they were taken to a working class section of greater Berlin called Wedding, and resolved then and there to look up all foreign words in the dictionary even if they appeared familiar.

The bluejackets were particularly impressed by a three-tier rack in the cloak room of the city council. The rack is used for laying aside partly smoked cigars before the city fathers enter the council chamber. "Look here," said one of the sailors, "what a fine idea for parking cigars: if a fellow leaves early he's got the pick of all the stubs."

Movie fans and critics are getting worried about the exodus of German film stars and directors to the United States. "If the pace keeps up," said one reviewer, "the German film industry will be crippled. There will be so many new and unknown faces on the screen that movies will lose their drawing power."

Eight directors of note have gone or have contracted to go to the States, including Ewald Andre Dupont, the first movie critic in Germany and now regarded as one of the three greatest film directors in the world. Of the stars Germany has lost at least temporarily, Emil Jannings, Lya de Putti of "Variety" fame, Conrad Veidt, Paul Wegener and Goesta Eckman. Elisabeth Berger has gone on the legitimate stage for this season. About the only popular star left is Mady Christians, who is considering signing an American contract.

Henrich Krause, a former teacher at Bronk, is showing the world that one can still play the piano at the age of 100. Though he gave up regular teaching twenty-seven years ago, he continues to play for an hour or more every day, and his interpretation of the classics like Bach, Beethoven and Mozart is said to be an inspiration to the students who come to hear him at his home.

Even the cost of an education is going up in Berlin. To meet a deficit in the public instruction budget the Board of Aldermen has raised the fees for students from $37 to $48 a year in schools which correspond to the American junior high schools and high schools. The fees are payable monthly and do not include expenses for books and sundries.

Nickname Sticks To Woman M. P.

"Miss Perky" during last session, the House continued to stick to her—Other Members in Britain.

London, Oct. 23 (AP).—Miss Ellen Wilkinson, Labor member of Parliament, likely will be known as "Miss Perky" for the rest of her political career. She was called that during a hot debate by Sir Frederick Hall, a Conservative, who tried to tease her. Miss Wilkinson flushed angrily and appealed to the chair.

"Mr. Speaker," she said, "may I ask whether I am to be insulted by the member sitting next to me? I claim your protection."

The speaker admonished Sir Frederick but Miss Wilkinson had seen the funny side of the situation by his time and began laughing. The name stuck.

Austin J. Small, better known as "Seamark," has contributed several dramatic sketches at the Little Theatre lately that received favorable comment. Small ran away and went to sea at 13. He rode freight trains from New York to the West, where he earned his living singing in ranch houses and mining saloons. Drifting south he worked as a cook. One day he met Jack London and told him of his adventures.

"Buy a pen and write them," London said. He did.

Viscount Ulsterwater, former speaker of the House of Commons, says he has heard enough speeches to last him a lifetime. Presenting himself at a public school at which he said: "There is nothing I dislike so much as public speaking. I have heard too many. Reckoning up not long ago the number I heard in the House of Commons it was 50,000. I am not anxious, therefore, to add to the number or to listen to myself."

Tipplers in England and Wales seemingly are steadily decreasing or are not drinking as much as previously. The number of convictions for drunkenness in these areas, according to government statistics, last year was less than half the total for 1922. The figures being 75,777 for 1922 and 182,325 for 1924.

The occurrence of drunkenness which leads to conviction is unevenly distributed over the days of the week, says the report carrying the statistics. "Saturday is the most fruitful day for arrests and contributes about thirty-three per cent of the total."

The number of licensed saloons has declined from 102,189 in 1900 to 30,420 in 1925. The 1925 figures represent 20.68 licenses per ten thousand of the population.

In wearing a wrist watch for the first time in his life, King George has stimulated a custom which was expected to die out after the Prince of Wales discarded the wrist timepiece for a platinum pocket watch and chain.

The King is using a small square watch mounted in platinum which is held on his wrist in a small black strap.

The Prince of Wales for some time has favored a thin platinum watch and this platinum chain which he wears both mornings and evenings, and his example has been followed by many young men about town.

Now that the King has gone in for a wrist watch jewelers are on tip toes to see whether father or son takes the greatest following.

Beauty parlors and military salons run by members of the British aristocracy are no longer a novelty, but Baron Hamilton of Dunsail, formerly Lord-Baird, to King George and to the late King Edward, has struck a new note.

Religious School Opens Monday

School of Religious Education Resumes Session Monday Evening at the Y. M. C. A.—Subjects Selected by Board.

The School of Religious Education which was held last year, will resume its sessions on Monday evening, October 23, in the Y. M. C. A. building, to continue for ten consecutive weeks of one night each. The Board of Administrators is making a strong effort to make the school as big a success as last year, and hopes to have a larger enrollment.

Last year there were 119 that attended regularly. Over 100 credit unit certificates were given to students of this school. The fees will be the same as last year, $1.50 for two subjects. It is so arranged that a person can take either one or two subjects, which will give him one unit of credit for each ten lessons taken.

The school will be held Monday evenings, beginning at 7:30 and dismissing at 9:30.

The following subjects have been selected:

"The Program of Christian Religion," written by John W. Shackford. This subject deals with the expansive movement of the Christian Religion, and with its transforming power in human society. It deals with meeting the world's religious needs, providing the basis of a new social order; the growth of the Christian community and the impact of a non-Christian environment; the creation and preservation of the Christian family; the training of the coming generation; the place and work of the organized church; and the assurance of victory.

The second subject that will be taught is:

"The Curriculum of Religious Education," written by George Herbert Betts. This text is divided into twenty-five chapters, some of which are noted: Present problems; historical background; the secular element in early Sunday school; the doctrinal element in the Sunday School Curriculum; the Bible made the center of the curriculum; the movement towards an organized curriculum; the musical element; agencies that determine the curriculum; existing theories; the demands of the individual; the demands of society; the demands of the church; the international lesson system; constructive studies in religion; the completely graded series; the week-day church school.

This is an exhaustive study and will be of interest to every church and Sunday school worker.

The third subject is "The Psychology of Early Adolescence," written by E. Leigh Mudge. The following are well covered in this subject: The background of early adolescence; the period of transition; physical changes in early adolescence; intellectual phases of early adolescence; the development of the life of feeling; moral life and social relationships; the religious life of early adolescence. This subject is chosen from the third year specialization series.

The fourth subject that will be taught will be "The Principles of Teaching," written by Betts. This subject appeals to every teacher as it deals with methods of teaching religion.

The following is the contents of this text:

The teacher himself; the great objective; the four-fold foundation; religious knowledge; religious attitudes; connecting religion with life and conduct; the subject matter of religious education; the organization of material; the technique of teaching; making truth vivid; types of teaching and methods used in recitation.

Another subject will be, "Study of the Prophets." Last year there was "old testament history," in general. This subject will treat with the prophets of the old testament individually.

Dr. Reagan, of the Oakwood School of Poughkeepsie, has consented to teach the subject, "The Program of Christian Religion." The other four subjects will be taught by four local people.

The following is the schedule of the classes:

First Period: 7:30 to 8:30.—The Program of Religious Education. Assembly and Devotional period from 8:30 to 8:40.

Second Period: 8:40 to 9:30.—The other four subjects will be given as described above.

Fair to Both

A well-known newspaper editor was playing over Tuxedo valley the other day when one of the editors captured a beautiful young couple, the young to fly. Walking over to the editor he said to him:

"Can you tell me about it?"

"Well, here, take this bird home to me, please, he will like it."

"Can't do it," replied the editor.

"Why?" queried the editor.

"Well, it is this way. Go and catch another and I'll do it. You see, I have seen and I cannot bring one home for me without doing the same for the other."

The editor took the bird rather away.

Anniversary of Beth

The word "birthday" has two principal meanings. The day of a person's birth is his birthday. In that sense a person has only one birthday—namely, the day he was born. But "birthday" also means the anniversary of some birth. In that sense a man's birthday is the day he was born. He has a birthday each year after that. When we say a man died on his birthday, we mean that he died on the anniversary of his birth.

Earth's Greatest Conflict Near

Why is there so much distress and perplexity in the world? Why are the nations so desperately preparing for war? Why is there so much selfishness among men? Why are the people afflicted with famine, pestilence and disease?

The word of God which foretold the fall of Ancient Egypt, Assyria and Babylon, clearly foretells the complete dissolution of this present unrighteous order and the inauguration of God's kingdom of righteousness, which kingdom will guarantee eternal life, liberty and happiness to the peoples of earth.

20,000 people listened to Judge J. F. Rutherford, President of the International Bible Students Association, discuss this subject at the New Madison Square Garden, New York city, Sunday Afternoon, Oct. 17th. The local class of Bible Students have arranged for the same lecture to be given by

EVENING
FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham Bonner

LEOPARD AND LIONESS

Mrs. Leopard was having a chat with Mrs. Lioness. They were in neighboring cages in the zoo.

"When my first little ones came into this great world," said Mrs. Leopard to Mrs. Lioness, as she looked at her neighbor, "I could hardly wait for them to open their eyes."

"I just longed to see their eyes and to see if they looked good and sturdy and wild, as little leopards' eyes should look."

"It took three or four days for my babies to open their eyes," said Mrs. Lioness.

"They always take about that long. Fear, ordinary, tame cats," she continued, "have to wait ten or eleven days for their babies to open their eyes."

"We are very superior, we lions and our children."

"Well," said Mrs. Leopard, "I don't like to hurry the little ones."

"I like them to take their time, but I don't want them to take too long about it."

"I think leopards open their eyes just about the right time," she added.

"Every mother thinks the name of her young," said Mrs. Lioness.

"Perhaps," said Mrs. Leopard, "but I know I am right."

"Now, my children take from six to seven days to open their eyes; yes, just about a week they take."

"That is just right."

"When they're a week old they look about them and see what is going on."

Having a Chat.

and whether they like the world and generally they are satisfied with it!

"Oh, I was so excited, as I have said, the first time I waited for the little ones to open their eyes."

"A day passed, and then another, then a third, and a fourth, and a fifth."

"And, oh, I was getting more excited every moment."

"Then a sixth day, went by, and on the seventh their eyes were open, and they looked at me and looked about them."

"But, oh, how glad and happy I was, for their eyes showed that they were going to be good, wild, leopards later on!"

Billie Browne was listening to this conversation but then the two wild ladies went to sleep, and Billie went and visited his friend, the Coyote Rat, who always amused him.

"It's not all creatures who can boast as I can," said the Coyote Rat.

"So far, so good," said one of Coyote Rat's relatives.

"You see," said the Coyote Rat, with a smart wink of his tail, "in the first place I'm of the family which is known as the largest rat family in the world. Just as an ordinary rat is about the size of a kitten, so am I, an extraordinary rat, about the size of a cat!"

"I don't mean to say that there are more rats in my family than in any other, but we're the largest-sized rats. Yes, we're big, generous rats. I don't mean we're generous with presents or anything foolish like that, but we're generous to ourselves in growing to be so big."

"Enough!" exclaimed his relative who was listening. "you don't express yourself particularly well."

"I don't need to," said the Coyote Rat. "I come from South America and here I am in North America! That is itself is interesting, and we all like to welcome the little rats to the zoo, for we know they will be happy rat children."

"The weather in the winter doesn't bother us, for we have enough fur to keep us warm and we believe in frost all the whole year around."

"But I will not talk about the winter when it is only fall, and not quite that. No, a rat knows too much about the seasons for that and a big rat, one of the biggest rats ever seen, isn't going to let creatures think that he was so busy growing in size that his brain didn't get a chance!"

"I won't think that," laughed Billie Browne.

What Jane Wanted

"I can't see why you don't like to go to kindergarten," Jane's father said, "in this new building, a big study yard and swings and sand pit, and a large basement to play in on rainy days. What were you wanting?"

"We want our mother," Jane replied.

Crime Note

"Daddy," said little Willie, "where's a shepherd's crook?"

"It's the only kind of crook you don't find in a big city," replied his dad.—Chen, an Observer.

GAS BUGGIES—Dangerous Symptoms.

LAST NIGHT
on THE RADIO

Reception last night was excellent on the few local stations that have been the regular standby during this week of trial and tribulation for the DX fan. At 7:15 an SOS call alerted most of the stations, but McEneaney's Orchestra at WBZ, which is on such a low wave length that it does not interfere with code calls, furnished entertainment until the other stations were back on the air.

The high spot of the evening was Queen Marie's speech, which many fans missed by reason of the bungling of somebody connected with WJZ. According to President Sarnoff's explanation, there was misunderstanding of time and the queen was ready to speak at 8:05 but the announcer did not expect her until 8:30, at which time she had another engagement. Just why the advertising piffle at 8:05 was not suspended and the queen permitted to speak was not explained. Then, when the queen did speak, at about 11 o'clock, at the Iron and Steel Men's banquet, the announcer had such an attack of babbling that he deprived the audience of the pleasure of hearing Madame Alda sing. While Madame Alda was singing and her voice was being transmitted almost perfectly by the microphone, the announcer, so in love with the sound of his own voice that he could not be silent and so staid that he did not know how well the radio was functioning, fastidiously listened to a tiresome monologue about nothing whatever. Of course he so marred the singing that it was not very enjoyable. Not content with one performance of this kind, he repeated it when Madame Alda sang again, explaining that he regretted that the microphone was in front of the queen and therefore Alda's voice could not be transmitted in a satisfactory manner. The only obstacle to Alda's voice was the persistent babbling by the announcer. Fortunately he managed to restrain himself during the queen's speech, which was interesting and audible—the speech, not the announcer, who could never be either. Wonder if he can wiggle his ears?

WDBE will, as usual, broadcast the morning service in the Fair Street Reformed Church on Sunday.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Oct. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. George H. Gheare, the rural mail carrier, who have been spending some time with relatives on their vacation have returned to their home.

Mrs. Martha Charles called on several of her friends in this place on Tuesday. Mrs. Charles expects to spend the winter in Kingston, and will soon close her summer home.

Little Donald Farrell, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Farrell, while on a visit at the home of his aunt Mrs. T. Hobbs in America, was injured by an automobile while crossing the street. He was taken to a hospital where he remained several weeks, and has so far recovered as to be able to spend Sunday at his grandparents' home.

Miss M. C. Van Wageningen is having her house painted and a number of other improvements made. David Wood is doing the work.

Mrs. Preston Church and Mrs. Grant Young were among the number who visited Kingston on Thursday.

Miss Mary Krom is having her chimney repaired.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox from Warwick spent a couple of days this week with Mrs. Anna Beckman.

The organization of the Mills Republican Business Women's Committee, composed of hundreds of business women from all parts of New York City, is another striking demonstration of the tremendous interest which has been aroused by the militant campaign being conducted by Ogden L. Mills, Republican candidate for Governor. Not since women won the right to vote have they exhibited such enthusiasm in behalf of a gubernatorial candidate, and the Mills headquarters in the Hotel Marlborough has been literally swamped by the number of women who desire to volunteer to help the Republican ticket.

The volunteers were so numerous that the formation of the Mills Republican Business Women's Committee was brought about. Several well-known women have volunteered to take charge of the Business Women's Committee and why it into working shape. These members include Mrs. Courtland L. Barnes, Mrs. James F. Curtis, Miss M. Frances Hildreth, Mrs. William Dessar, Mrs. Norman K. Dike, Miss Adelleou Grant, Mrs. Anna Mather, Miss Edith Welles and Mrs. Philip Randolph.

Among the more than five hundred members already enrolled in the Committee are teachers, stenographers, secretaries, salesladies and executives. The Committee will open a number of stores in various parts of New York City where prominent speakers will be heard and campaign literature distributed. The first of these stores was opened last week at 374 Madison Avenue. Mrs. Norman K. Dike, wife of Supreme Court Justice Dike of Brooklyn, is in charge of this store. Miss Nellie Bevell, famous publicist, will be one of the speakers to be heard there.

The Week in Wall Street

New York, Oct. 22 (AP).—The selling movement in the stock market, which has been underway for three consecutive weeks, was interrupted this week by a sharp rally, engineered by professional traders, but the high prices failed to hold and the market was headed lower again as the week drew to a close. Meanwhile, call loan rates softened and cotton prices broke to the lowest levels since 1921.

While all sorts of "reasons" were brought forward to explain the heavy liquidation of stocks, including the break in cotton, the slight slackening of several leading lines of industry, and the campaign for a removal of European trade barriers, many experienced market observers regarded it as a natural correction of a temporarily over-bought position, having little or no relation to current news of business developments. Unlike most sharp reactions of the past the selling is reported to have come largely from pools who were loaded up with stocks, which they had been unable to distribute in their campaign for higher prices in the late summer and early fall.

Although steel executives attending the semi-annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute here this week were optimistic about the future of business and professed no alarm over foreign competition.

The weekly trade reviews called attention to a slight reduction in the demand for steel products, particularly from the automotive industry and the third quarter report of the Gulf States Steel Company revealed that the common dividend had not been earned in that period. The public Iron and Steel Company, on the other hand, made an excellent showing. Motor trucks were prominent in the mid-week rally, but were among the first to feel a renewal of selling pressure on Friday, because of publication of the day before of the department of commerce report showing a falling off in automobile production in September and because rumor of further price cuts. Timken Roller Bearing showed independent strength. The oil shares were adversely affected by another increase in crude production, accompanied by talk of a cut in mid-continent crude prices, although the Maryland, Transcontinental and Phillips companies published excellent earnings reports. Rails yielded with the industrials, although strong buying support was extended to Atchafalaya and the Van Sweringen issues. The first September earnings reports to be made public were regarded as favorable.

The Ladies' Aid of the Church of the Comforter are planning to hold their annual fair on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 9 and 10. The fair will be open afternoons and evenings. On Tuesday the ladies will serve a chicken pie supper and on Wednesday a pleasing entertainment will be given for which a small admission will be charged. The public is invited.

Roman Water Calliops

A circus "calliops" played with water, instead of steam, was one of Nero's playthings, according to Italian archeologists, following studies near the golden house of Nero. The "water" calliops was invented by the Egyptians and brought to Rome three centuries before Christ.

Water served to create the air pressure necessary to produce different tones in the calliops.

Several keyboards with a mechanism of strings were used to regulate the air-pressure valves in the metal pipes.

No Wonder

I love to hear the alarm clock ring. I can't understand the people who curse it as an interrupter of sweet repose. To me it seems the symbol of existence itself. It is the sign that the great city has awakened from its slumber, that a new day is beginning, that the streets and buildings will soon be filled with surging, progressing life. Faithful servant! I love to hear the alarm clock ring.

Early History of China

By the year 2200 B. C. the Chinese were a civilized nation in the valley of the Yellow river, whence they soon spread to the Yang-tse-Kiang and the sea. Traditional records begin with the "Five Monarchs." These were successively followed by the dynasties known respectively as Hsia, Shang, and Chow which lasted from 1122 B. C. to 255 B. C. The last is the only one of the group that is truly historical.

Jake Ruth, closing his barnstorming tour on the diamond next week, will train behind the footlights for his $50,000 contract, talk with Jake support of the Yanks. A roadshow of twelve weeks will postpone a big dollar over Babe's much delayed salary increase until February.

Coaches for college chess teams have arrived. For the first time in Princeton history, a member for the door game has been engaged to instruct twenty-five candidates in the study of grappling with "little wooden men."

Paoline, Pyrenees Tiger, is due in New York next month to tangle with the challenging host around Gene Tunney's throne. The Basque wood-chopper has booked passage out of Genoa Aires on a steamer leaving November 4.

"Will you shake hands with me, Tunney? You made me a rich man," an unidentified sportsman said. Gene Tunney as the world's heavyweight champion became caught in a fine jam on Broadway. "I won $10,000 on you when you beat Dempsey," he explained, as the handshake was granted.

Michigan and Illinois Clash

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 22 (AP).—A bitter football rivalry of years standing, Illinois and Michigan awaited the opening battle for the game which occupied the center of the gridiron stage of a country today. Both squads are declared primed for the contest, the winner of which, there is a strong possibility, may ultimately be crowned king of the western conference.

Although expressing some concern over the fact that have overtaken some of his stars, Coach Robert Ruppke of Illinois promised the Wolverines will be given "a fight they will remember." Members of a Michigan team indicated they were determined to carry off honors and seek atonement for the crushing defeat at the hands of the Illini in 1924, the last meeting of the teams.

Eastern Major Elevens Busy

New York, Oct. 22 (AP).—Today's football menu held few choice morsels for eastern gridiron followers.

Although traditional rivalries were revived in many conflicts, decisive victories were forecast by critics in a half score games involving major elevens. Navy, Dartmouth, Yale, Columbia, Princeton, Army, New York University, Washington and Jefferson, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, among others, ruled heavy favorites, with early season results carrying strong indications of victory.

Absence of games between teams in the thick of the heat for the mythical eastern championship diverted major interest to Harvard's desperate attempt to recover from the most disastrous start in gridiron history. Signs of steady improvement have been apparent at Cambridge in the last two weeks, but Crimson supporters held only dim hope that Harvard's players could stop Dartmouth.

Yale's confidence of readily subduing Brown was slightly shaken today by the loss of David Flahwick, brilliant end. The converted quarterback, who had a big hand in the triumph of Dartmouth last week, suffered a badly bruised knee which will keep him on the sidelines for two weeks. Leo Mallory, brother of a former Yale captain, was expected to get Flahwick's assignment.

A reorganized Princeton team faced Lehigh, with Captain Johnny Davis in the lineup for the first time this season. Jake Blagie, triple-threat backfield star, will be absent, however.

Pennsylvania and Army, powerful and unbeaten candidates for titular honors, anticipated no difficulties in disposing of Williams and Boston University, respectively, but a close struggle between two crippled teams loomed in the meeting of Penn State and Syracuse.

Navy, pointing for revenge next week against Michigan for the overwhelming defeat of 1925, apparently held a distinct edge over Colgate. There was indication, however, that the midshipmen would be called upon to stop a daring overhead barrage. Observers consequently look upon the game as a critical test of Navy's defense for the Michigan game.

Midwest Grid Teams in Action

Chicago, Oct. 22 (AP).—The battling of 16 teams in the two conference rows. Drake's inter-conference with Mississippi and Notre Dame's sortie into the Big Ten topped the crowded program of midwestern football that today marked the halfway point in the season.

Michigan's big stadium was sold out long before the kickoff with Illinois, Northwestern's new stands turned away hundreds. It appeared that the count of the crowd at the Iowa-Ohio game would pay $50,000 and that the throngs throughout the midwest would approximate half a million.

The Wolverines were favorites over Illinois in the main western conference game. Purdue was at Chicago, Iowa at Ohio State and Indiana at Wisconsin in engagements also bearing on the Big Ten championship, still far from decided. The Boiler-makers were given odds over Chicago for the first time in years. Iowa was expected to go down gallantly before the Ohio that crushed Columbia a week ago, and Wisconsin was rated a better team than Indiana.

Sharing attention with the Michigan-Illinois game was the invasion of Northwestern by Kaute Rockne and 35 players he regarded as the third of the Notre Dame squad most competent to down the Wild Cats, so far a brilliant streak across the Big Ten horizon.

WHAT HAPPENED IN THE ROPED ARENA LAST NIGHT

Fordham Gridders Get a Bit of Action Into Practice

The photograph shows Walsh, Fordham tackle, on the ground with the ball after Bruce, tackle, had furnished a bit of action after missing his man during the first practice of the season at Fordham field.

Sport Notes

Woman's place is the British channel.

University of Chicago sells season tickets for six home football games for $14.

Bill Tilden blames his knee injury to a kick he received in a soccer game 12 years ago.

Calling it a "world series" must impress the world as an example of typical American modesty.

Captain Walter Marks of the University of Chicago gridiron has developed exceptional skill as a forward passer.

Claude Butlin of Mexico City has held the tennis championship of that town 28 times. Butlin is forty-nine years of age.

Major Orlander, eighty-one-year-old Civil war veteran, recently won a three-cushion billiard tournament at Seattle, Wash.

Outfielder Tucker of the New Orleans Southern association club has been sold to the Washington American league baseball club.

The English channel swimming season is over and the strip of water has now returned to its regular job of being a bit of geography.

Fater brothers—Mark, twenty; Elmer, twenty-two, and Laverne, twenty-five—each weighing 105 pounds, are all jockeys with high standing.

Purchase of G. P. Lyons, pitcher for the Columbus club of the American association, is announced by the Detroit American league baseball club.

Construction of 7,000 additional seats in the Dallas park is under way and when completed will increase the seating capacity of the park to 20,000.

Lee Tannhill, following a long and brilliant career on the baseball diamond, has dropped out of the game and has probably played his final contest.

Luther Roy, right-handed and leading pitcher of the Southern league with 24 wins and 10 defeats, has been sold by New Orleans to the Chicago Cubs.

Clarence Griffin, southpaw hurler on the Memphis team, chalked up his twentieth victory on the day it was announced that he had been sold to Brooklyn.

George Sargent, who won the open western golf championship in 1907, and his son, Alfred, form one of the greatest father and son combinations in the country.

Ernie Nevers, former Stanford backfield star, played brilliantly in the opening football game at Duluth, the home team defeating the Kansas City Cowboys, 7 to 0.

Many of Europe's best auto racing drivers will invade America's tracks next year in an effort to restore the prestige formerly held by auto manufacturers of the Old world.

"How to Look at a Golf Ball" is the title of a new book. The trouble is you have to look down on it and somehow the ball always seems to assume the lofty attitude.

Levey Mahaffey, Pittsburgh's pitching coach, is a husky six-footer and has better. He was made four home runs in a game while playing for the Columbia club in the South Atlantic league.

By winning the rowing championships of Canada, the United States, England and Australia in 1925, Ed Hansen established himself as the first row champion of the world in any kind of sport.

For the first time in 25 years a Standard vs. California major athletic contest will be held in San Francisco when the third game of the basket ball series will be played in the Exposition auditorium March 2, 1927.

Paschal Good Utility

Ben Paschal, utility outfielder for the New York Yankees, has done some most excellent playing this season and stands a mighty good chance of a regular job whenever a vacancy occurs.

Says Concentration and Determination Will Win

There are women players who go up to the ball and putt without any hesitancy, says Cecil Leitch. The results are so good at times that it makes the ordinary mortal wonder whether she ought to adopt a similar casual manner, but in the long run a strong combination of determination and concentration on the green will reap its reward.

Speaking of my own experiences I am convinced that my mind is not on the task in hand half the time. I am endowed with a particularly keen sense of hearing and, when playing before a crowd, I constantly find myself listening to whispered remarks when I should be concentrating to an extent which would make this endeavoring impossible.

I am constantly asked why I do not learn to putt, but few people realize how difficult it is to practice this part of the game. To my mind there is nothing simpler than to put approach putts stone dead and hole out with regularity from a reasonable distance when nothing is dependent upon the result.

It is a very different story in an important event, for then the yard putt is doubly difficult and the long approach putts become terrifying.

Iowa College First to Place Turkey Day Ban

The beginning of a crusade against Thanksgiving day football by colleges has been announced by the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education.

The intent, it is said, is to educate the American public toward restoration of the fundamental observance of Thanksgiving day as an occasion for serious observance rather than as an athletic extravaganza.

The first college to announce abandonment of its Thanksgiving football game is Parsons college, at Fairfield, Iowa, one of the 54 Presbyterian colleges in the United States. The annual Thanksgiving event at Parsons has been the game with Iowa Wesleyan.

It is anticipated that other Presbyterian colleges will follow suit when their officials have had opportunity to consider the suggestion of the educational board.

Purple Coach Says Pro Games Need Stabilizers

Before it can be on a par with the intercollegiate game, professional football will have to get coaches like Zuppke, Yost and Rockne, in the opinion of Glenn Thistlethwaite, Northwestern coach.

"The pro game needs stabilizers," Thistlethwaite says. "It has drawn large crowds in several instances, but it was the individual players and not the attraction of competing teams that created the interest."

"The professional game may some day be accepted with the same favor as the college game, but I believe that day is a long way off. Professional football needs more organization, a clean set of rules that will be lived up to and a schedule that must be followed."

BILL SOUTHWORTH ON FIVE CLUBS

With Indians, Braves, Giants, Pirates and Cards.

Bill Southworth, veteran outfielder, who was traded by the Giants to the Cardinals, is now in his tenth season as a major league player. The St. Louis club is the fifth major league team of which he has been a member, as he has also played with the Giants, Pirates, Braves and Indians.

Southworth began his professional career as an outfielder and he has played that position ever since. His first engagement was with the Portsmouth team in 1912. He remained with that team during most of the following season. In August of that year he was obtained by the Indians, but he did not take part in any games with the Cleveland club. Several days after being obtained by the Indians he was transferred to the Toledo club of the American association. He finished that season with the Toledo club and he participated in a total of 37 games, batting .222.

After remaining in the American association until the middle of the season of 1915, Southworth was recalled by the Indians. He took part in 60 games with the Cleveland club during that campaign and he batted .320. Late in that season he was transferred to the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league.

During the entire season of 1916 Southworth remained with the Portland team. He took part in 171 games in the outfield with that club and his batting average was .300. At the end of that season he was signed by the Birmingham club of the Southern association. He played in 103 games with Birmingham during the season of 1917 and he batted .280. He remained with Birmingham during the first half of the following season. He played in 64 games with the Birmingham club that season and he batted .314.

During the season of 1918 Southworth was obtained from the Birmingham club by the Pirates and he has been in the National league ever since.

Paddy Driscoll Signs

Paddy Driscoll, star player of the Chicago Cardinals professional football team of the National league, has signed a contract to play with the Chicago Bears, managed by George Halas and Ed Sternaman, former University of Illinois stars. Halas said Driscoll would be the second highest priced professional football player in America, only Harold Grange exceeding him.

Golf Is Favorite Sport of President Heydier

"My favorite sport is golf," declares John A. Heydier, president of the National league. "I find baseball my recreation. It is my business, too, but if I were suddenly removed from the presidency I would attend to the game regularly just the same."

"That's the secret for youngsters. I don't become in golf as a game for youth because the idea of today's youth is to get something more strenuous. Football, basketball, soccer, any sport that demands personal contact. Golf is for those advanced in years, who can no longer run down or carry the plodding. It gives them walking exercise and the use of muscles that otherwise would remain idle. So that's the idea of golf, to get into play every part of the body."

Stage Set for Pro Grid Game

Record Crowd Is Expected To Witness Football Game Sunday at Fair Grounds Between Yellow Jackets and Deacons.

A record crowd for a football match in Kingston is expected Sunday afternoon when the Yellow Jackets and the Deacons outfit of the Hudson Valley Football League stir up the turf at the Fair Grounds in gridiron match. The match is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

It will be a great innovation for Kingston sport followers to watch such two powerful teams as the Yellow Jackets and Deacons club clash. There are sure to be no dull moments in this battle as the Kingstonians have three scalps already this season and are desirous of lengthening this string of victims. While on the other hand the downriver aggregation is coming to Kingston Sunday afternoon in an effort to regain its scalp that the Colonial City warriors captured in their opening game of the season.

Manager Redhead has corralled a new skillful player in Arthur Miner, a dependable man on John Hopkin's varsity for two years. Miner has had experience before and is a great find for the local manager. Scheffel will not be able to play in Sunday's battle due to injuries received in Poughkeepsie last week. The lineup is not definite because of injuries to several players but probable will be as follows: Cirone, fullback; Colvin and Hoffman, halves; "Punk" Vogt at quarter; Len O'Reilly, center; McLane and Clark, tackles; Sammons and Mahoney, guards. Rice will be on one of the wings with Miner, Ehnes, Howard or Martin as a choice for the other end berth.

Both the clubs will meet at the K. of C rooms where they will dress for the match. Scorecards have been printed which will be on sale at the gate.

Operatic Singer Marries

Florence, Italy, Oct. 23 (AP).—Mme. Louisa Tetrassini, famous operatic singer, was married here today to Pietro Vernali, twenty years her junior and the tenant of her home in Rome, where she met him. The ceremony was performed by Alderman Sebregondi in the presence of a large assemblage.

Heroic Deed Recorded in Letters of Gold

Strongly built upon the last rock on a French coast stands a lighthouse whose light revolves constantly to guide sailors through the neighboring reefs.

It is calm weather, you happened to get near enough to the lighthouse you would see there, written in letters of gold, two names: Andrew Duffot, Bertha Duffot. That inscription commemorated the deed of two young people who lost their lives to save those of others.

The lighthouse is uninhabited. Its function is automatic; the light shines night and day. Once a month, or thereabouts, taking advantage of calm weather, a boat goes out to the lighthouse to renew the stock of carbide which is used to feed it. But one night the light went out. A fearful storm was blowing, and doubtless a wave or else a gust of wind, had smashed a pane and blown out the light.

At all costs the damage must be repaired and the lamp relit, but no one dared to venture on the wild sea. The official entrusted with this duty was away; he had recently paid his periodical visit, so that his responsibility was covered.

It was his two children, Andrew and Bertha, aged sixteen and fourteen, who volunteered. The sailors in the harbor soon lost sight of the little boat carrying the two children into the darkness. But soon a sign of relief arose among them when they saw suddenly the light pierce the blackness of the night.

But the boat never returned to port.

Latin Alphabet Gains

Reports from the Caucasus indicate that the movement to substitute Latin letters for Oriental characters in printing the native languages is making rapid progress. In Baku, the oil city, Eski Jel, a paper that changed to the Latin alphabet, has doubled its circulation. In Armenia and Azerbaijan the Latin alphabet has been introduced into the public schools, and the spread of the use of Latin letters is especially fast in Georgia. Foreigners living in the Caucasus are eager for the general adoption of the new style, as it facilitates their efforts to learn the native tongues.

Fresh in Letter Mail

Dresses can be mailed now in ordinary-sized white envelopes. This was done recently by a London (Eng.) girl who wished to send a frock to a friend. The frock was made of the finest ribbon, and when she had folded it several times she found that she could pack it into an envelope used for everyday correspondence. She affixed a tied stamp to it and sent it through the post. No extra charge was required from the addressee. The mysterious weight which was sent through the post for 14d. is two ounces.

Customer—"Have you any eggs that have no chickens in them?"
Greengrocer—"Yes, Ma'am, such eggs."

Cristman, independent Republican candidate for United States Senator, in an address before the Women's Christian Temperance Union state convention today.

ARMY DIRIGIBLE TC-3 ON RETURN TRIP.

Boston, Oct. 23 (AP).—The army's non-rigid dirigible TC-3 took off from the Boston airport today on its return flight to Langley field, Virginia. The big ship planned to stop overnight at Lakehurst, N. J.

The main purpose of the cruise of the 196-foot airship here was to acquaint the crew with the Atlantic coast line. In addition opportunity was afforded to test the capabilities of berthing such a craft where there were no permanent installations for the purpose.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Mrs. Richard Powers of Saugerties died in the Albany hospital on Friday. She is survived by her husband, who is a letter carrier in Saugerties, her father, William Frances, a sister, Mrs. Willie Baldwin, and a brother, Oliver Frances. The body will be taken to Saugerties for funeral and interment.

Theodore M. Tietjen, for the past 65 years a highly respected resident of this city, died early this morning following a long illness. He was born in New York city, the son of the late Henry and Helma Cordis Tietjen, and came to this city when a young child, where he has since resided and had endeared himself to a large circle of friends. Early in life he married Mary Blanshan of this city, who survives him, also two daughters, Mrs. John Krueger, Jr., and Mrs. George Schick of this city, and one sister, Mrs. Fred Lang of Leonia, N. J. Funeral from his late home, No. 511 Albany avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in the family plot in Montrose cemetery.

THE JOINERS.

News of Interest to Members of Fraternal Societies.

The members of Nygale Court, Order of Amaranth, are invited to attend the meeting of Junia Court, on the evening of October 23, 1926, at Newburgh, N. Y., at which time a reception will be held for Sir Knight Munson, Assistant Grand Lecturer.

DEED.

TETJEN.—In this city, Saturday, October 23, 1926, Theodore M. Tietjen, beloved husband of Mary Blanshan Tietjen.

Relative and friends are invited to attend the funeral from his late home, No. 511 Albany avenue Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment in the family plot in Montrose cemetery.

In sad and loving memory of my dear husband Lawrence J. Gaynes, who entered into rest October 24, 1926.

Just six years ago today, dear, You entered into rest.

Not gone from my memory, Not gone from my love, But gone to a heavenly rest above. And while he rests in peaceful sleep his memory I will always keep softly at night when stars are shining.

I put his cold and silent grave Where I loved but could not save. Friends may think I have forgotten And my wounded heart is healed Little do they know the sorrow That's within my heart concealed.

WIFE.

In Memoriam.

In memory of my beloved father who departed this earth one year ago, October 22, 1925.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Further recovery in prices took place in today's stock market despite sporadic attempts of bear traders to unsettle the general list by depressing the motors and certain specialties. With business and banking opinion inclining to the belief that no general recession in business is in prospect, despite a falling off in some lines, speculative sentiment tended to bullishness, particularly in view of the sharp decline that already has taken place.

Renewed attacks against the motors was accompanied by rumors of additional price cuts and prediction of a falling off in fourth quarter earnings, but in many cases the early losses of a point or two were materially reduced or converted into gains.

Railroad shares held fairly steady in quiet trading, the official denial that a substantial cash dividend was being considered on Atchafalpa at the next meeting casting a damper on buying in that group. September earnings continued to make favorable comparisons with the previous month and the same month last year. Baking shares displayed a sudden burst of strength under the leadership of Ward Baking and Continental Baking. A good buying also was noted in the chemicals and local iron and steel. Total sales approximated 750,000 shares.

PRINCIPAL AND ATHLETES IRON OUT TROUBLE.

Eric, Pa., Oct. 23 (AP).—Harmony prevailed again today between Principal John Ray and 15 members of the East High School football squad who had refused, because of physical strain involved, to ride 112 miles by bus today and play a game with Newcastle.

The trouble was ironed out at a conference yesterday after the cancelling of the Newcastle game and the barring of the players from school athletics.

An official announcement stated that "both sides realized they had made a mistake" and that the schedule for the rest of the season will be carried out.

Fear Safety of Local Residents

Who Were Living on Isle of Pines—Brimmer Estate Was in Path of the Hurricane and is Believed Destroyed.

Anxious friends and relatives in this section are awaiting definite word of the hurricane which swept across the Caribbean sea on Wednesday and laid waste a great portion of the Isle of Pines. A number of people from this section several years ago went to the Isle of Pines and took up residence there.

From reports the center of the storm swept the island and apparently was most severe at Nueva Gerona, San Francisco and Santa Barbara. In these places the greater number of deaths occurred.

Among the properties in that section is the estate of the late William D. Brimmer of this city. Mr. Brimmer in his lifetime spent the winter months on the island and had developed a great portion of his 100 acre farm. Pineapples and grape fruit were the main crops raised there. The farm was located about a mile from Nueva Gerona, the center of the storm area, and it is supposed the estate has been laid waste by the storm. On the place was a two-story frame house, one of the few frame buildings on the island.

Some ten years ago the same territory was visited by a hurricane and the property swept. Judge William D. Brimmer, Jr., has not heard from the superintendent of the farm since the storm but his name is not included in the list of dead or injured. However, Mr. Brimmer, who has spent several seasons at the Isle of Pines, is well acquainted with the persons listed among the deaths. The Davis family, which was wiped out when five of them were killed in the storm, were well known by him, he having spent the night at their plantation on one occasion.

Several of the others listed as dead at Santa Fe were well known to him.

The Brimmer plantation is located less than a mile from the town where the hotel and old church were destroyed and but few homes left standing. Nueva Gerona is located between two mountain peaks and the full force of these tropical storms sweep down through the notch between the mountains, carrying along everything in the path.

About the Folks

The Benedictine Hospital was tendered a visit by the Right Rev. Bishop John J. Dunne on Thursday afternoon.

After spending a few days in New York city and Astoria, I. L., Miss Sallie Hommel of 137 Jansen avenue has returned and resumed her duties at the Governor Clinton.

Oscar F. Hartman, formerly trumpet player with the Keeney Theatre orchestra, who has been making his home at Avenue L, for the past six months, has returned to Kingston to make his home here.

Jere Follette who has spent several weeks at his home in Millen, Ga., looking after his business interests in that state has returned to Kingston and is visiting his brother, Dr. H. A. Follette, 236 Fair street.

Mrs. Peggy Shepard, of Hemlock Cottage, Woodstock, is leaving today for Mexico. She is traveling via New Orleans and is one of the many passengers aboard the S. S. "Creole." She will return for the holidays.

Howard Wood of 38 Clinton avenue, who has been confined to his home with a serious attack of grip is able to be out again. On Wednesday he was surprised by a group of friends who stopped in to celebrate his birthday.

Odds and Ends

Harry Greb Dies After Operation

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 23.—Harry Greb one of the most colorful boxers of the present day and former middleweight champion of the world, died here Friday afternoon following an operation on his nose for a fracture of the bone near the base of the skull, which he received in an automobile accident a week ago in Pittsburgh. The operation was considered as a trifle by the boxer but the doctors failed to arouse him from the anesthetic.

Greb whose real name was Berg—his static name spelled backward—was born in Pittsburgh thirty-two years ago of Irish-German parentage and started his ring career in 1911. He was a success in his profession and defeated many of the fighters of high calibre. He defeated Gene Tunney, now world's heavyweight champion in 1922 but lost to the same boxer in 1923.

Wells of Gardiner and Miss Mary Alice Dustinberre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dustinberre of Modena, were married at the home of the bride in Modena on October 16 by the Rev. R. C. Reynolds of the Modena M. E. Church. Miss Rose Ellen Davis of Kingston was the bride's attendant and Myron J. Wells, a brother of the groom, was best man. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Wells will reside in Modena where a newly furnished home awaits them.

Schroeder-Kobaski.
Henry J. Schroeder of Saugerties and Miss Agnes Kobaski of Gloversville were married on October 21 in the Church of the Sacred Heart at Gloversville. Father McCall, officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Ruth Keller of Gloversville and the best man was Frederick Schroeder, a brother of the groom. The groom is a veteran of the World War and was wounded. He received a French citation for meritorious and brave service and the Croix de Guerre. Upon their return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder will reside on Barclay Heights, Saugerties.

A Surprise Party.
A very delightful surprise party was given to Mrs. Anna Every in honor of her birthday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Freer. She received many valuable gifts which were highly appreciated. The table was very prettily decorated with Hallows-e'en draperies. The guests departed at an early hour wishing Mrs. Every many more happy returns of the day. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elmendorf, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Osterhout, Miss Gertrude Shaw, Miss Caroline Every, Miss Esther Freer, Sherman Moore, Mr. and Mrs. William Freer, Master William Smith, Mrs. Mabel Tuttle, Vernon Huston, and Mrs. Clark-Terwilliger.

Miss Cornelia Terwilliger and Lester Clark were united in marriage by the Rev. Robert E. Gates at the Edgelyville M. E. Church on Sunday, October 17, at 10 a. m. The bride wore a creation of turquoise blue and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. The matron of honor was Mrs. John Fisher who wore an exquisite effect in tan and carried pink roses. The best man was the groom's brother Burdette Clark. Both Mr. and Mrs. Clark are popular young people of Edgelyville and are well known in Kingston where the groom has a position as private secretary to John D. Schoonmaker. After the ceremony the bride party had dinner at the Golden Rule Inn and then the happy young couple went on a honeymoon to Montreal, Canada, and points in the Adirondack mountains. After their return Mr. and Mrs. Clark will reside at Edgelyville where they will be at home to their many friends.

Improvements at the NYNEX CLOTHING STORE.
The scaffolding has been removed by the builders from the front of the Morris Hynes building, North Front street, near Crown street which shows the light brick frontage and from which observers can see the great improvement underway to the Hynes clothing and men's furnishings store. Installing of the three additional store fronts glass and copper fronts to the two already in place will begin on Monday.

Followed Directions.
The young daughter wanted to put her hand on the mother's back as she drove. Upon her return the mother found every part of the house had been used, and all were standing in a row on the kitchen table, ready for washing. Upon inquiry, the daughter explained: "Well, the recipe said to wash the hands separately."—Christian Science Monitor.

Physician Called To Attend Queen

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—A physician was called to the royal suite at the Ambassador Hotel today to attend Queen Marie of Rumania whose cold was considerably aggravated by a strenuous series of speaking engagements yesterday.

Her condition was said to be not serious and the doctor's visit did not disarrange the day's schedule of either the prince or princess. Prince Nicholas left in his roadster to visit the Brooklyn navy yard.

A delegation of Girl Scouts escorted the Princess Ileana to the Capitol Theatre for a reception.

Although her voice was weak from yesterday's speeches and strenuous social program, it was announced that the queen planned to keep all her engagements today, and if possible, to get the upper hand of her cold by resting tomorrow.

"It is an exaggeration to say that Her Majesty is indisposed," declared Madame Simone Labovary, her lady in waiting. The presence of the physician, she said, signified nothing more than a preventive measure, his prescription being a cough syrup and avoidance of over-exertion.

Radio Engagement Of Queen Bungled

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Many radio fans who counted upon hearing the voice of a queen have been disappointed.

Due to a misunderstanding in broadcasting time, Queen Marie of Rumania failed to keep an engagement to speak from 21 stations in a national hookup last evening. Although her address at a dinner given in her honor by the Iron and Steel Board of Trade at the Hotel Commodore did get on the air.

Only three stations, WJZ here, WRC in Washington and WBS in Springfield, Mass., carried the royal voice.

Announcements were that the queen would speak between 8:30 and 9 o'clock. She arrived at the studio a half hour early, however, and left before David Sarnoff of the Radio Corporation of America was arranging for her to go on the air at once. When he returned to the reception room to find her gone, he immediately went to her suite at the Hotel Ambassador to offer his apologies.

A typewriter company, which broadcast the Dempsey-Tunney fight, had arranged for the broadcasting by the queen. Announcers said an ice cream company has arranged for her to broadcast next Friday.

Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, was toastmaster of the dinner in the queen's honor at the Hotel Commodore. Prince Nicholas was with his mother, but the Princess Ileana remained at her hotel.

After presentation to the assembled guests, Judge Gary asked the queen to talk about herself.

"Most people like to do that and my family tells me I talk too much about myself," her Majesty replied. "But it is through me that I want you to know and love my country."

Her crown, she said, signified a mission to build up Rumania and lead it toward progress. She then related that an elderly Rumanian lady had once called her stupid, saying that she did nothing.

There was a second hiccup before the queen's banquet address was broadcast. After it was announced that she would speak at about 10 p. m., there was delay while Mme. Olga finished singing a copyrighted song which radio fans were not supposed to hear. Then Hugh Morrow, president of the St. Louis-Steel Steel Company, spoke, and next Queen Marie was heard, 15 minutes after a commercial program at WJZ had been interrupted for the benefit of disappointed radio fans.

Jewish Welfare Lecture.
The public is invited to attend the free lecture to be given by Joseph Hovey, field secretary of Jewish Welfare Board, at the Jewish Community Center, tomorrow at 3:30 p. m., under the auspices of the Y. M. and Y. W. H. A. There will be no admission or collection. Everybody welcome.

Sponge Packing Plants Destroyed.
New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—Every sponge packing plant, except one, at Sabanao, on the southern coast of Cuba, was swept away by the hurricane, said a cablegram received today by the American Sponge and Chemicals Company. This company's plant was the only one left and the cable.

New W. C. T. U. Head.
Niagara Falls, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP).—Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, New York, today was elected president of the New York State Branch, Women's Christian Temperance Union. She succeeds Mrs. Ella A. Steele, now national president.

Abandon Steam Barge.
Quebec, Q. C., Oct. 23 (AP).—The steam barge "Mottier" which ran ashore yesterday off the Gaspé coast was abandoned today. The entire crew of 22 landed safely.

JOHN A. LEJEUNE

EMMA GOLDMAN

Protection of mails was put to Major-General John A. LeJeune, commander of the Marine Corps. Emma Goldman, noted radical, who recently married John Colton, Scotch miner, arrived in Montreal from Russia. Federal Judge George W. English faced impeachment proceedings to start in the Senate November 10. Eugene Meyer, chairman of the President's Cotton Committee, went South to make a study of conditions.

Prisoners Weep At Osborne Bier

Auburn, N. Y., Oct. 23 (AP).—All Auburn paid tribute to Thomas Mott Osborne, leading citizen, today. His funeral was one of the largest ever held in Auburn. The body was escorted from his home in South street, by soldiers and sailors who served in the World War. The eulogy at the First Universalist Church was given by the Rev. Samuel Eddy Elliot of Boston, classmate of Mr. Osborne at Harvard.

Prominent political personages, including former Lieutenant Governor George R. Lunn and prison officials and penologists of New York and other states, were in attendance.

At the close of the church service Mr. Osborne's body was taken to Auburn prison, where the 1,200 inmates took their last view of their benefactor and true friend. Even the most hard boiled of the inmates shed tears and the service was one of the most impressive ever held inside Cooper John's domain in State street. A brief address was given by Dr. Elliot.

Cuckoo Kept Busy
There is a curious legend in Dutch folklore: when the cuckoo's note is first heard in the woods the country girls kiss their hands, and ask the bird, "Cuckoo, cuckoo, when shall I be married?" And the old folk, crippled with age and illness, disfigure "Cuckoo, when shall I be released from this world's cares?" The bird answers by calling "cuckoo" as many times as years will pass before the object of their wish is attained. But as many girls never marry, and some old people live to a great age, the poor bird is so overworked answering the numerous questions put to her that the spring passes before she has time to build a nest, and so she lays her eggs in the nest of another bird.

Postal Equality Sought
Without prejudice to their claim to vote and general equality with men before the law, some married French women have decided to select a few special, if apparently minor, points on which they intend to secure equal treatment. Among the rights desired immediately is the equality of postal privileges.

A French wife went to the post office and asked for a box as near her husband's as possible.

"Are you in business on your own account, madame?" asked the postmaster. "No." "Then you need your husband's authorization to rent a box?"

The reply startled the government postal equality.

A Beggar's Warning
A kindly old lady stopped over a recycling beggar and produced a penny. The beggar cried it indignantly. "No," he began. "I'd ye find in de paper about de beggar dot died and left a million dollars to a lady dot give him a quarter?"

"I seem to remember something of the sort," replied the old lady. "No." "Well, dot guy was me brother. Fure dot kind of a family we are?"—Exchange.

All Are Finger Printed
In Argentina there is a national finger-printing law, and as a result the thieves and more lawbreakers are all recorded by this system. It is this regulation which makes Argentina the one country in the world, it is said, where one may not lose his or her identity.

Venerable Newspaper
The oldest newspaper in the world is probably the Tien-Pao-Kien-Pao, the official government journal, published in Peking, China. This newspaper recently celebrated its 250th anniversary and apparently has made a good start on its 250th anniversary without showing any signs of age. Among the articles of its editorial staff is at least one Oxford student who speaks English quite as fluently as he does Chinese.

Mutual Pair of Gloves

General C and General H had each lost an arm for glory in the Civil war. They took it as a matter of course and were profoundly grateful for their joint good fortune in that General O had lost his right arm and General H had sacrificed his left.They were neighbors and friends.
Once a year they observed a special occasion with all suitable dignity.
On a certain morning General H would approach the fence of General C, and having arrived, would lean thereon until General C appeared. After a formal salute General C would say to General H:"General, isn't it about time we went to buy ourselves a new pair of gloves?"And off they would march to buy one pair of gloves for two heroes—

Violin Work of Engineer

The violin has a number of defects, but they can all be remedied. They present problems for the engineer, not for the musician. Put the violin into the hands of an able engineer—one capable of designing a suspension bridge—furnish him with a moderate amount of fundamental information about sound, tell him to improve the instrument, and in a year or so he will turn out such an instrument as Stradivarius dreamed of all his life but never succeeded in building. If this be blasphemy, make the most of it—
John Redfield in the American Mercury.

Colors of Jade

The Chinese recognize nine colors of jade, ranging from a clear translucency, almost like rock crystal, to opaque black, and including such rare shades as kingfisher blue, blood red, and amber red. Such as these you will only see in the great museums.
For their price is above rubies, and even large pieces of the pure emerald green, which today comes, for the most part from Burma, are of considerable value.
